

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

5/4/2010

Contact:

Brittany Carter
240-235-0270
bcarter@columbiabooks.com

Lobbyists.info now publishing Lobby Blog

In an effort to further expand the suite of resources we provide to the lobbying community, Lobbyists.info has released the Lobby Blog. A free service of Lobbyists.info, the Lobby Blog seeks to provide timely, informative snippets of useful content and conversation on the federal lobbying community: from lobbying and lobbyists to ethics, campaign finance, and pay to play law.

The following information will be provided on Lobby Blog.

Lobbying News – whether it’s a short snippet of an article from a DC publication or an update on lobbying in the fifty states. And we’ll keep you up to date on Moves and Changes in the lobbying community.

Ethics Tips – get short, easy-to-read weekly refresher on ethics and lobbying.

From the Eyes of an Editor – at Lobbyists.info, we have a staff of editors and researchers who are constantly coming across ways that lobbyists can clarify or improve their filings. So in From the Eyes of an Editor, we’ll look at things that lobbyist-registrants constantly get wrong – and how to improve.

Campaign Finance – the intersection of money and politics is constantly in the news, and undergoing new regulation. So in our Campaign Finance section, we’ll keep you up to date the ever-changing campaign finance world.

Lobbying News Round-Up – a weekly review of the things you should be reading.

For more information visit www.lobbyblog.com.

About Lobbyists.info

Lobbyists.info is the one-stop resource for information on lobbying and Government Relations. The site provides a complete database of the federal lobbying community, a database of Congressional members and staffers and a full lobbying compliance center. For more information visit www.lobbyists.info.