Lobbyists.info Announces Major User Interface Upgrade for Lobbyist, Congressional and Legislative Data

(Bethesda, Md.) Lobbyists.info is pleased to announce a major user interface upgrade to its database of federal lobbying contacts, congressional members, congressional staff and legislation. This new interface allows users to benefit from a front and center “Quick Search” bar to quickly and easily locate the information they are searching for. Users can also scan the new scrolling “Recent Registrations & Terminations” bar for a quick look at constantly changing lobbying relationships.

This new interface also highlights the interconnectivity across datasets and links lobbyists, political action committees, members of Congress and their staff members through previous work history and related legislation.

“We hope that this new, much more user-friendly interface will allow users to explore even more linked lobbying and congressional connections than ever before in a simple, clean and easy manner.” remarked Joel Poznansky, President of Columbia Books & Information Services, parent company to Lobbyists.info.

About Lobbyists.info: Lobbyists.info is the number one resource for information on government relations and lobbying relationships. In addition to the complete federal lobbying and congressional databases it also houses the Lobbying Ethics & Compliance Center, which provides information on the latest rules and regulations on lobbying ethics and procedure.
